

Contents

Summaries	67
------------------	----

Articles

Deterrence of abusive pricing in telecommunications markets under Article 102 TFEU John Townsend and Rory Cochrane	71
High Court decision in Arriva v Luton Airport : does a dominant undertaking need to be present downstream and/or to gain some economic benefit for a finding of abuse? Ben Smith and Dimitris Mourkas	79
‘Willing or not willing, that is the question’: thoughts on the Motorola decision Annalisa Tosdevin	85
Drawing a line in the sand? The Court of Justice’s Cartes bancaires judgment Martim Valente	91
Is competition law the right tool to protect vulnerable consumers? Mike Hales	103
The economics of class actions in follow-on competition damages Patrick Smith	111
Competition authorities and compliance programmes: cooperation and enforcement Paul Henty and Rory Ashmore	127
Behavioural economics in competition policy enforcement for financial product markets Bruce Lyons and Nicola Mazzarotto	141

Economic Focus

Most-favoured-nation clauses in the e-commerce sector: an economist’s point of view Spyros Droukopoulos, Avantika Chowdhury and Matthew Johnson	153
---	-----